Diamondhead officially has two new council members

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

It's official the city of Diamondhead has two brand new council members – last Tuesday's election was certified on Monday, Anna DeMarco Liese won the Ward 2 position and John J. Cumberland won for Ward 3.

"I'm delighted and honored to represent the people of Ward 2," Liese said last week after the ballots were counted and unofficial results showed her as the winner. "I look forward to Diamondhead's future because we're going to do great things."

As of last Tuesday, there were still three outstanding affidavit ballots in the Ward 2 race that would not be counted until the next day, and there were two absentee ballots that had not yet been arrived, but would still be valid as long as they were postmarked by Tuesday and arrive at Diamondhead City Hall by May 16.

Diamondhead Deputy Clerk Tammy Garber said Monday that the ad-

GENERAL MANAGER

A small, but determined, crowd gathered on Saturday at McDonald Park in Bay St. Louis for the annual Hancock County Relay for Life.

Donald Murphy, this year's Honorary Survivor, said he was both "proud and humbled" to be selected.

Murphy said his first introduction to cancer was when his wife, the late LiLi Stahler-Murphy and 2020's Honorary Survivor, was diagnosed with ovarian cancer in 2016.

She bravely battled the disease until she passed away on July 12, 2020.

Murphy himself was diagnosed with prostate cancer in 2018.

He praised, Hancock County Relay for Life co-chairs Bernie Cullen and Nonnie Richardson for their hard work and support of Relay for Life over the years.

This year's theme was "Relay Around the World."

Several teams prepared food from different countries and cultures.

Waveland says 'no' to 'blue water' proposal

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The Waveland Board of Mayor and Aldermen on Monday hosted a special meeting to discuss the "Blue Water Project."

Micah Tinkler led the presentation.

"Does everyone know the difference between risk reduction, risk mitigation, and risk acceptance?" he said. "Risk reduction is avoiding something completely. I'm not going to move to Waveland, it's too low, it floods, it nearly got wiped out in 2005 I don't even want to look at a house in Waveland. That's risk reduction. Risk acceptance. I know that there's a risk, what can I do to offload some of it? Risk mitigation is actually doing something to downgrade the risk, to lessen the impact that is going to happen."

Tinkler said the project idea, first proposed by Mark Henderson, has been "floating around since 2019." He added that for

OLA’s Elizabeth Simpson named runner-up at State Bee

SEA COAST ECHO

Our Lady Academy 8th grader Elizabeth Simpson was named runner-up at the Mississippi State Spelling Bee. The Mississippi University for Women served as host for the 28 spellers that competed in the event on Saturday, March 12, 2022. After three and a half hours and 25 rounds, three finalists were faced with a written test of 25 more words that would decide which of them would win the Mississippi State Spelling Bee. Jessica Widodo from Oktibbeha County was claimed the winner with Elizabeth Simpson and Eltahir Zein named as runners up and tied for 2nd place. Elizabeth won the tiebreaker on March 19 and will serve as alternate. “This is my fourth time competing, and I didn’t like the written test. I like verbal (tests) more,” Elizabeth said. “It’s nervous but exciting and fun, and you get to interact with so many other people.” The alternate will serve as a stand-in for the winner should she be unable to compete at the Scripps National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C., this summer. Elizabeth is the daughter of Drs. Samuel and Janet Simpson of Diamondhead.

Bay in the running again for Top 10 Small Coastal Towns in the US

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

Bay St. Louis is once again in the running for USA Today’s “America’s Best Small Coastal Towns” competition. In 2020, the Bay earned fifth place in the nation in the competition, which is hosted each year by USA Today’s 10Best.com. For comparison, Gulf Shores, Ala., ranked ninth. “Bay St. Louis plays an extremely important role in tourism in Coastal Mississippi,” Milton Segarra, then-CEO of Coastal Mississippi, said at the time. “Their ‘all are welcome’ message, sense of community, art scene, unique dining opportunities, local downtown shops, beautiful sprawling beaches, and stunning bay views all make for a highly desirable destination, which is reflected in the voters’ decision to rank Bay St. Louis so high on this list of extraordinary coastal towns found across the nation.

This is a phenomenal opportunity to showcase everything that Bay St. Louis has to offer, which will in turn benefit all of Coastal Mississippi as a destination.” Each of the towns up for this year’s “Best Small Coastal Towns” have fewer than 25,000 residents. Other towns in the competition this year include Bandon, Ore.; Bar Harbor, Maine; Beaufort, S.C.; Bucksport, Maine; Cape May, N.J.; Carmel-by-the-Sea, Calif.; Del Mar, Calif.; Downe Township, N.J.; Georgetown, S.C.; Half Moon Bay, Calif.; Hillsboro Beach, Fla.; Kailua Beach, Oahu, Hawaii; Los Osos, Calif.; Mendocino, Calif.; Nags Head, N.C.; Ocean Springs; Rockport, Tex.; Southport, N.C.; and Westbrook, Conn. Naomi Strawhorn is Red Rose recipient

Naomi Strawhorn

SEA COAST ECHO

The Alpha Upsilon Chapter of the Mississippi State Organization of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, a group of key women educators, has announced that Ms. Naomi Strawhorn is their prestigious Red Rose Recipient. The Red Rose Award is given to a non-member that is a leader in her community as well as benefits others through education.

Since 2018, Ms. Naomi Strawhorn has been in a unique position to benefit the education of abused or neglected children by training and supervising volunteers in CASA, Court Appointed Special Advocates. These volunteers are led in specialized training that provides abused and neglected children with quality advocacy in the court system as well as to help secure a safe, permanent, and nurturing home. Naomi Strawhorn is the Victim’s Services Coordinator and an advocate supervisor at CASA of Hancock County in Bay St. Louis. Ms. Strawhorn holds sessions on what it means to be a CASA volunteer, gives speeches at various chapter meetings to inform the public about the value of CASA, and trains as well as supervises the individuals working with the children and their parents.

Naomi Strawhorn is also a pioneering leader as the first TBRI® Practitioner with CASA of Hancock County. When she arrived in Mississippi, she became a foster and adoptive parent and was instrumental in bringing the TBRI program to Hancock and Harrison Counties. Presently, Ms. Strawhorn provides virtual training classes in Trust Based Relational Intervention to assist foster parents by explaining the impact of trauma on a child’s brain and body, interpreting behavioral issues such as communication, and providing assistance with responding to trauma behaviors. These training classes emphasize the principle of connection, empowering and correcting in interventions to help meet the complex needs and hopefully correct or disarm fear-based behaviors of these vulnerable children. This year Ms. Strawhorn is coordinating with the director of CASA of Hancock County, Ms. Cynthia Chauvin, to hold a multi county workshop with the national leaders of the TBRI program to train more practitioners at the local level. She is also available to the local schools to share the concepts of TBRI in aiding the education of at risk students.

A new addition to the CASA staff is REMI, the courthouse facility dog. REMI went through the Canine Companions breeding and training program before she became fully certified. REMI was selected and trained to calmly interact with people in a high stress environment. Ms. Strawhorn, as the Victim Services Coordinator, participated in intensive team training with Remi before becoming her primary handler. Together they attend classroom lectures, field trips, speaking engagements, and most importantly are present with child victims attending forensic interviews or Youth Court in order to offer therapeutic emotional support.

Naomi was born and raised in Hawaii. She received a Bachelor’s degree in English and a Master of Intercultural Studies. She traveled in Southeast Asia for 2 years on mission trips offering humanitarian aid as well as disaster relief. Naomi was first introduced to the Gulf Coast by her husband, Tray, who was a part of post-Katrina reconstruction. They became a part of the resilient coast community when they said, “YES”. Tray and Naomi are also actively involved in their church and the Boys & Girls Club with their 3 children, Sara, Marissa, and James. Ms. Strawhorn and her positive demeanor hopes to see more people saying, “Yes” to becoming informed volunteers or educators that will aid at risk children in their education which can benefit them not only in their school environments but also in their homes so they can thrive.

Abigail Marlin Inducted into The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi

SEA COAST ECHO

Abigail Marlin of Diamondhead, Mississippi, was recently initiated into The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, the nation’s oldest and most selective all-discipline collegiate honor society. Marlin was initiated at University of Evansville.

Marlin is among approximately 25,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni to be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi each year. Membership is by invitation only and requires nomination and approval by a chapter. Only the top 10 percent of seniors and 7.5 percent of juniors are eligible for membership. Graduate students in the top 10 percent of the number of candidates for graduate degrees may also qualify, as do faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction.

Phi Kappa Phi was founded in 1897 under the leadership of undergraduate student Marcus L. Urann who had a desire to create a different kind of honor society: one that recognized excellence in all academic disciplines. Today, the Society has chapters on more than 325 campuses in the United States, its territories and the Philippines. Its mission is “To recognize and promote academic excellence in all fields of higher education and to engage the community of scholars in service to others.”

More About Phi Kappa Phi

Since its founding, more than 1.5 million members have been initiated into Phi Kappa Phi. Some of the organization’s notable members include former President Jimmy Carter, NASA astronaut Wendy Lawrence, novelist John Grisham and YouTube co-founder Chad Hurley. Each year, Phi Kappa Phi awards more than $1 million to outstanding students and members through graduate and dissertation fellowships, undergraduate study abroad grants, funding for post-baccalaureate development, and grants for local, national and international literacy initiatives. Sometimes, it’s wild in Waveland — officers of the Waveland Police Department on Thursday responded to an emergency call at Henderson and Daniel streets, and ended up subduing a nearly nine-feet long alligator.

Investigator Ray Murphy was able to safely “lasso” the alligator with a nylon rope. “It wasn’t easy,” Murphy said on Friday. However, he said, “it kept trying to run off into the woods, and I wanted to hold it for the conservation folks — this is about the third time it was spotted around here.” Officers contacted the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, which safely relocated the alligator in an unpopulated area. To report a nuisance alligator, you can call the MDWFP at 601-783-2911.

Yuki Northington named 2022 Jody Compretta Person of Passion

SEA COAST ECHO

On May 12th at Hollywood Casino during the Mid-Year meeting of the Hancock Chamber of Commerce, it was announced that Yuki Northington, owner of Social Chair in Bay St. Louis, is the 2022 recipient of the Jody Compretta Person of Passion. “I am so honored,” said Northington. When Jody Compretta took over as President of the Chamber in December 2001, he spear-headed a complete re-organization. His legacy is far reaching during his short and passionate life as a business leader, visionary, and philanthropist.

Yuki Northington

Jody volunteered countless hours of time to improve Hancock County through his work with the Chamber, serving two terms as President; through the Port & Harbor Commission as a member of the Board; as President of the Rotary and as founding president of the Hancock Community Development Foundation. He was one of the first to receive the Top 10 Business Leaders Under 40 Award by the Sun Herald. In 2003, the Chamber recognized him as Citizen of the Year, the youngest person to receive this honor in Chamber history. Flag Retirement Program

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home works with local residents and the veterans services organizations to properly retire any U.S. flag that has reached the end of its service. Our program is designed to honor our national heroes, our military veterans, and to give dignity to our American Flag when it is no longer worthy of display. We strive to see that each veteran being cremated has a flag. There is no charge for this service to our veterans.

According to the United States code, Title 4, Chapter 1, Subsection 8: "The flag, when it is in such condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning."

If you would like to honor a deceased veteran by donating an aged or worn flag to be properly disposed of, you may do so by delivering the flags to our funeral home located on the corner of Necaise Avenue and Main Street.

"We pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

A Remembrance in Praise of Charles Gray

Not too long after moving to Waveland 12 years ago, friends suggested I would enjoy the luncheons given at the Hancock County Historical Society as a way of getting to know my new community. The luncheons were presided over by the always impeccably dressed Charles Gray, whom I have to admit was one of the great ‘characters’ that I have met in my 66 years of living. This puts Charles Gray in the good company of Muhammad Ali, our current President, and an Indian guru considered by some to be a modern day saint.

Charles knew who he was and knew where he came from in a way that surpasses the rest of us mere mortals. Within 5 minutes of meeting him, he would often tell rapt listeners of his ancestors Thomas Gray, a Revolutionary War patriot, and Charlemagne, the one-time leader of the Holy Roman Empire. Charles Gray knew he was connected viscerally to the founding of our great nation with its aspirations of freedom, liberty & justice for all made possible through the radical practice of government by, for and of the people. He knew his roots went back to those at the bedrock of Western Civilization. Those are the kind of roots that led to a certain self-confidence that guided Charles when his feet hit the ground in the morning.

Charles was perhaps the best storyteller I have ever encountered. His story of the Battle of Bay St Louis, complete with shore-side ladies imploring someone to do something as cannons were brought up to fire on the British longboats, made history come alive.

However, I will remember Charles most for his legendary sayings, pearls of wisdom distilled with care like a fine brandy or cognac. I offer my 2 favorites:

Hancock History:
World War II: The European Theater

The Second World War lasted from 1939-1945. The war started on September 1, 1939, when Nazi Germany, under Adolph Hitler (1889-1945), invaded Poland. The Axis powers included Italy and Japan. Germany later took France and the Netherlands in two weeks. However, Germany was prevented from invading England because it could not achieve command of the air or sea. Consequently, Hitler invaded the Soviet Union on June 22, 1941. The United States entered the war on December 7, 1941, when Japanese planes attacked the United States Naval Base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. In March 1941, the German Afrika Korps under General Erwin Rommel, “The Desert Fox” (1891-1944), was sent to North Africa to support a faltering Italian Army. It took two years for the Allies to clear the German and Italian forces from North Africa. The Allies captured Sicily in August 1943. The Italian Campaign lasted from July 1943 to April 1945. Marshal Joseph Stalin (1878-1953) wanted the Allies to produce a second front in western Europe to reduce Hitler’s power on the eastern front. Accordingly, the Allies committed thirty divisions in 1943 to take Italy, the “soft underbelly” of the German Third Reich. This unfortunate decision gave General Albert Kesselring (1885-1960) eleven months of skillful rear guard tactics over Italy’s mountainous terrain to delay the Allied advance. Nevertheless, after D Day on June 6, 1944, the Allies created a large western front with approximately seventy-five divisions facing sixty German divisions. (A division usually contains ten thousand soldiers.) It is of interest that Germany had approximately 100 divisions on the eastern front facing 120 Russian divisions.

Lt James Keating and his Rifle Company E in the Second Battalion was removed from reserve status in Morocco to be inserted in the front line in Italy in March of 1944. His unit participated in the Fourth Battle of Monte Cassino which essentially broke through the Gustave Line, captured the town of Cassino, and destroyed the abbey at Monte Cassino. Keating was awarded the Bronze Star for bravery in that battle which was pinned to his uniform by General Mark W. Clark (1896-1984), Commander of the Fifth Army. Later, the Allies took Rome the day before General Dwight D. Eisenhower (1890-1969) lead his army on the beaches of Normandy on June 6, 1944. Keating commanded one of the first units to enter Rome, but fortunately the Germans abandoned the city without resistance. Lt. Keating was instructed to inspect the Vatican for Germans. He and his staff sergeant drove up to the front door and was told by the Vatican guard that the Pope would not permit an inspection of the premises, since the Vatican was a sovereign nation. After some delay and negotiation, Lt. Keating was offered, instead, a guided “tour” of St. Peter’s Basilica by a single young priest. It was indeed fortuitous that Lt. Keating was Catholic, and that his silent prayer that an international diplomatic crisis be averted, was apparently heard.

American Green Tree Frog

The American green tree frog is a common species of tree frog belonging to the family Hylidae. It is native to central and southeast United States, and their geographic range runs from the eastern shore of Maryland to southeast Florida, with populations as far west as central Texas and as far north as Delaware and southern New Jersey.

As indicated by their name, they are mostly a bright green color with a lighter white or cream-colored strip from the side of the head down to the flanks. However, the coloring can change depending on lighting or temperature making them appear anywhere from a bright, yellowish olive to a dark green, almost brown color. These frogs are small and have extremely porous skin.

The green tree frog is nocturnal, and the males are especially active and vocal at night. If you consider keeping one of these adorable creatures as a pet—with its big eyes and perpetually smiling mouth—it is best to keep it separate from sleeping quarters.

Guest Column
By James Cummins

This tree frog has the same temperature requirements as humans, thriving at temperatures between 70° and 75°F, with humidity levels around 50 to 60% during daytime hours. It is no wonder they are so perfectly suited for southern areas.

Green tree frogs feed primarily off insects. Fruit flies, moths, worms, house flies, mosquitoes, and other insects are devoured by these frogs, but crickets are their preferred meal. It seems the more active their meals appear, the more attracted the frogs are to that food source.

As the name suggests, the tree frog is tree-dwelling, but they also must have a clean water source, especially in breeding season. Therefore, this species is commonly found near lakes, ponds, marshes, streams, and other wetlands. They particularly prefer habitats with floating plants such as lily pads, duckweed, grasses, or cattails.

Breeding for this frog is highly influenced by day length, temperature, and precipitation. While the reasoning of this is not completely understood, it is well-documented that the frogs generally breed following rainfall. Also, males call more frequently as temperatures rise and daylight hours increase.

Most American green tree frog females breed once a year, but some have multiple clutches in a single mating season. Once a female frog has accepted a male’s breeding call and he has fertilized her eggs, she deposits her clutch in shallow water among aquatic plants. Clutch sizes usually average between 700 and 800, although there have been numbers as high as 2,100. The fertilized eggs will hatch after a week, and the tadpoles will complete their metamorphosis into frogs within a month.

Although many frogs and other amphibians are in decline worldwide, the American green tree frog seems to be an exception. While they do face some threats, they are listed as “least concern” by International Union for Conservation of Nature, which notes its population as large, stable, and widespread.

Hancock Narcotics agents arrest 3 in Lakeshore, seize 15 pounds of drugs, guns

ECHO STAFF
Hancock County Narcotics Division agents last week arrested three Lakeshore men, seizing weapons and about 15 pounds of illegal narcotics.
On Wednesday, Hancock County Sheriff Ricky Adam said in a press release, agents “conducted a search at the Earhart residence in the 7500 block of Lakeshore Road, based on an ongoing investigation into the drug trafficking activities of Ronnie Earhart.”
Ronnie Earhart was previously arrested on narcotics possession charges on March 16, “after he provided narcotics to inmate workers to smuggle into the Hancock County Adult Detention Center,” Adam said, “and again on April 10 after a traffic stop resulted in the seizure of felony amounts of methamphetamine. A search of the residence resulted in the seizure of approximately 15 pounds of mariuana, heroin and methamphetamine ‘ice.’ In addition to the narcotics, several firearms were recovered.

Arrested at the scene were Ronnie Earhart, 41; Ronald Earhart, 63; and Scott Tinker, 56.
Ronnie Earhart was transported to the Hancock County Adult Detention Center on charges of trafficking of a controlled substance, possession with intent to distribute a controlled substance, felony possession of a controlled substance and being a felon in possession of a weapon, Adam said.
He is being held without bond, Adam said, since his previous bonds

Ronald Earhart
were revoked “as a result of the new charges.”
Ronald Earhart was charged with trafficking of a controlled substance and being a felon in possession of a weapon, and was being held in lieu of $75,000 in bonds.
Tinker was booked on charges of being a felon in possession of a weapon and released on a $10,000 bond, Adam said.
“This investigation is an example of the dedication of our narcotics division,” Adam said. “This marks the third time in two months Ronnie Earhart has been arrested by our agents on narcotics distribution charges. Fortunately, our persistence paid off and a significant amount of narcotics and a dangerous dealer are off the street.”

The Hancock County Sheriff’s Office Narcotics Division is comprised of agents from the Hancock County Sheriff’s Office and the Bay Saint Louis and Waveland Police Departments. Sheriff Adam encourages the public to report drug activity by calling his office at 228-466-6900, emailing SOTips@co.hancock.ms.us, or Mississippi Coast Crime Stoppers at 1-877-787-5898.

“History is lies agreed to.” Professional historians have long acknowledged that history is written by the victors. The losers of a political or military conflict, or the oppressed and powerless, don’t get to tell their stories to the same extent. Charles told it like it is, with style, and suggested that we use some discretion in understanding the history we are told.

“Anything worth doing is worth over-doing.” This is one of Charles’ witticisms that is a guide to daily living, much in the same way that the Buddha is often attributed with ‘Everything in Moderation, including Moderation.’

Charles Gray’s irreplaceable wit, wisdom, and storytelling will be sorely missed.

Harbor established in Bay St. Louis as an economic catalyst to attract business and reinvestment in the area. And, it has done just that. The City of Bay St. Louis named the Marina inside the Harbor as the Jody Compretta Memorial Marina. He mantra was “Failure cannot cope with persistence.” And he proved this time and again through his passion for making Hancock County a better place to live.

This month, the Chamber honored another Person of Passion and dedicated leader for the community. “I have known this person for many years and have witnessed the passion she demonstrates time and again to make Hancock County a better place to live,” said Starr Chapman, 2020 recipient of the award. “She is an artist, a mother, an interior designer, a cheerleader, and the ultimate social chair.”

Yuki serves the community without hesitation. She steps up whenever her energy and talents are needed to drive business to Old Town Bay St. Louis. She started the Bay Rats Scavenger Hunt, she rallied the troops to put together a group of women known as the Sweet Potato Queens. She walks the parades with the Raw Oyster Marching Club, and she served as the Queen of the Mystic Krewe of the Seahorse. Today she serves once again as President of the Old Town Merchants. Yuki led the Rotary Club as President and started the little Library program among other initiatives. She added a new twist to the Annual Chili Cook-off with the Mac and Cheese Competition, raising thousands of dollars to help local charities. Most recently, she and others banded together to establish the Witches Walk in Old Town, attracting hundreds of women to shop and just have a good time in the Bay. She wears her crown well and members of the Hancock Chamber and the Compretta family honored her with the Chamber’s highest honor.

ditional votes changed the totals slightly, but not the outcome of either race.

The Ward 2 position came open in March after Ward 2 Councilman Alan Moran resigned. Ward 3 Councilman Ricky Sheppard then announced he would resign his position to run for Moran’s seat, since he and his family were moving to Ward 2.

In official tallies, Liese earned 117 votes – or 52.75 percent of the total number of ballots cast; Sheppard won 100 votes, or 45.41 percent; and David Hart earned four votes, or 1.83 percent.

In Ward 3, Cumberland won 175 votes, or 55.63 percent of the ballots cast; Jesse Flies earned 34 votes, or 10.93 percent; former Councilwoman Jamie Wetzel Morgan earned 71 votes, or 22.83 percent; and Carl L. Necaise took home 32 votes, or 10.29 percent.

The non-partisan special election required a clear majority in both races – if neither candidate in one of the wards had received a majority, then the top two vote-winners would have had to go to a run-off election.

The new council members were expected to be sworn in at the Tuesday, May 17 meeting of the Diamondhead City Council.

adult-only events. Krewe members will be in full pirate attire, and visitors are encouraged to wear their pirate best to celebrate the Bay’s pirate history, dating back more than 200 years.

The festival kicks off Friday, May 20 at 4 p.m., when pirates officially arrive in Bay St. Louis and begin meandering their way through Old Town with an adult pub-crawl and scavenger hunt throughout local eateries and establishments. This adults-only event requires a ticket, which can be purchased in advance or at Pirate Central that day. All ages are welcome to enjoy free live music 7-11 p.m.

Mid-morning Saturday join in or be an active spectator for the family-friendly Lil’ Buccaneers’ Parade at 11 a.m. Kids can also enjoy the pirate play zone, also open 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. (small fee required for entrance). The popular pirate costume contest is scheduled for noon with an overall adult male and female winner named, as well as the top three winners in several children’s age groups.

Also on Saturday, shop the craft vendors and enjoy entertainment all day at Pirate Central. See the ever-popular belly dancer troupe from Pandorium Belly Dance Company followed by the Pirate Invasion Parade and ROMC dance performers at 5 p.m.

After the parade enjoy live entertainment featuring a New Orleans favorite, “Top Cats”, from 7-11 p.m. and a Grand Finale Fireworks Display over the harbor at 9 p.m.

Although most events of this weekend are free, the weekend festival is an annual fundraiser for the Mystic Krewe of the Seahorse, a volunteer organization that promotes economic development in Hancock County and through fundraising, supports a very diverse group of interests to include the arts, veterans services, scholarships, job creation, and other non-profit organizations in the community.

Full details and the event schedule can be found on the website www.MKOTSH.com. For further information, call Dina Rosetti at (228) 216-6416 or Ginny Cabell at (601) 953-1972.

The Historical Society is challenging all cities, municipalities, schools, organizations, individuals, or groups to get creative and build a cardboard boat per specifications and come “float your boat,” off the beach adjacent to the Bay St. Louis Municipal Harbor harbor. There are several prize categories and there is plenty of room for spectators along the pier overlooking the starting line. Ms. Mary’s Old Town Snowballs & Ice Cream vendor truck will be there as the sun warms up the Bay.

There will be prizes for race finishers and winners, best design, and most dramatic sinking.

Last year’s event included 15 boats of unique design and questionable sea worthiness with a majority finishing the race. Hundreds of spectators lined the fishing pier and sea wall to enjoy this highly competitive event.

Living With The Polarities of Human Experience

RICHARDSON, D. MIN.

It does not take long for most people to realize that life is not always consistent. Consistency is not a word which accurately describes life in the real world. Actually, most of us live to a large extent amid polarities rather than certainty.

Life is a wonderful gift. Regardless of religious or spiritual perspectives, it is crucial that we learn that none of us created ourselves. We live in awareness that our very existence comes to us from beyond our own accomplishment. It is received.

There are many joys and satisfactions associated with this gift of life. Relationships can be meaningful. Beauty is abundant. Opportunities can be frequent and filled with promise. Hope is a powerful source of energy and possibility. There is much for which to be thankful in response to this amazing blessing of life. There are many challenges which are part of the human equation. Pain is real. Questions can be perplexing and hard. Uncertainty can sometimes be frightening. Honesty requires that we acknowledge these truths and incorporate them into our lives.

It is also true that love is real. It holds an influence and power which is built into the fabric of our lives and into almost every expression of spiritual faith that we know. An outgrowth of love is hope which sustains life in remarkable ways. Even when our prospects seem distant or unrealistic, hope continues to provide strength if we are willing to draw upon it. Humans are often caught within the pull of conflicting emotions. Contradictions are real. We long to trust in the amazing opportunities which life offers, but we are also painfully aware of the challenges and risks which it affords. These independent, and sometimes, isolated truths combine to verify that clarity and consistency are infrequent companions in the journey to meaningful and satisfying lived experience.

So what do we do? We recognize that there is no such thing as a tidy, one size fits all, answer to the complications inherent in the polarities of life. We can own the realities of complexity. One of the extreme dangers of authoritarian attitudes is that of oversimplification. It can seem attractive to "keep it simple". The truth is that not all questions have simple answers. Nuance is an important part of recognizing reality. Not everything is abundantly clear. Sometimes people must work from the assumption that there may be more than one way to think about an issue. This "in between living" may frustrate us, but it also opens the door to creative thinking.

Responsible living requires serious and reasoned reflection. It offers opportunity. It includes the burden of honest contemplation. Decisions may not be easy, but working on them is a moral duty. To do so is a noble obligation. To ignore such a duty will eventually take a harsh toll.

May we embrace the polarities of life with gratitude and hope.

of player we have. That will change slightly this coming season. We have implemented a few new wrinkles to feature our skill sets on both sides of the ball.”

Turcotte continued, “We had to piecemeal an offensive line throughout spring training due to some minor injuries here and there. The group we settled with has a will to be good and it will take time to develop that in the summer. On defense, we did well against the athleticism of St. Martin tonight. We talk to our team constantly about synergy. We look forward to what that will develop into over the summer.”

The Tigers saw bright spots with Jaylen Antoine in the offensive backfield with the two quarterbacks the Tigers are working in Xander Ladner and Alex Bellew. On the outside, Jaden Clark joins with Ethan Galloway and others for options at wide receiver.

On the defensive side of the ball, Ziron Brown and Larry Lee will man the line. The second level is still in the forming stages but Ben Wilemon, Tysen Hawkins, Vincent Lan, Layland Adams and more will look to fill those gaps.

The Tigers plan to get their players exposed to camps and 7-on-7 throughout the summer.

Turcotte and his staff have the summer to get ready for their Division 8-4A battles. Best of luck to the Tigers throughout the summer.

HANCOCK

The Hancock Hawks traveled to West Harrison for a three-team jamboree with West

Harrison and Stone. The Hawks dropped their first game with Stone 20-13 and rebounded for a 27-14 victory over West Harrison in the second half of play.

Hancock head coach Neil Lollar stated, “I thought we got a lot of guys in the games and we saw some good things. We were solid on offense besides the turnovers. We came out of this with no major injuries and some good game experience.”

Against Stone, the Hawks drove 67 yards to the Tomcats three yard line before a fumble thwarted the drive. The Hawks defense got the ball right back, however, when pressure by Ryder Island caused an errant pass that was intercepted by Jeffrey Hopgood who returned it 33 yards for a touchdown. Finn Cowan added the point-after to give the Hawks a 7-0 lead.

Two plays later, Cowan recovered a Tomcats fumble setting the Hawks up at the 32.

Once again, the Hawks drove inside the five, only to fumble it away once again.

Stone then scored three consecutive touchdowns as the Hawks substituted regularly on defense.

“We wanted to get the young guys in there during quality minutes,” Lollar stated.

Trailing 20-7, the Hawks scored on the final play of the first half when Cowan broke free for a 70-yard touchdown run.

In the second game, after giving up an opening drive touchdown to the Hurricanes, Hancock’s offense dominated the remainder of the contest. Junior quarterback Dylan Moran was sharp, completing 8-of-8 passes for 176 yards and three scores.

The first score was a three-yard toss to Jasper Talley that tied the game. A sack by Xavier Ganier and Island forced a punt, and the Hawks took advantage to drive 72 yards in eight plays for another score. Moran and Talley did the honors again, this time on a 20-yard strike.

After an interception by Colby Kern, the Hawks marched 74 yards in three plays to score again. Moran connected on two quick passes on the sideline. Then, Hawks then executed a perfect stop-and-go route that saw Moran hit T.J. Dedeaux streaking down the side line for a 60-yard touchdown. Cowan added the point-after to extend the Hawks lead to 21-7.

The Hurricanes cut the lead to 21-13 when Melvin Pickens busted up the middle for a 71-yard scoring run. The Hawks closed things out in style when Hopgood took a pitch 30 yards for a score in the final seconds.

In the jamboree, Moran was 13-for-14 for 226 yards and 3 TDs. Dedeaux led all receivers with 108 yards on 6 catches.

Cowan led the Hawks rushing attack with 71 yards while Nathan Cranmer added 48 yards.

On defense, the Hawks collected 4 turnovers and 3 sacks.

Kern had two picks along with Hopgood’s pick-six. Island had 8 tackles with three tackles-for-loss and two sacks. Ganier had four stops and a sack. Cowan connected on 5 extra points and added three tackles and a fumble recovery.

SAINT STANISLAUS

elected not to participate in a spring football jamboree but focused on intersquad practices to bring along the younger players moving up to the varsity team. The squad also had several players involved in late season runs with baseball and track and field.

SSC head coach Nate Encrpera commented, “We have had a very productive spring practice slowly involving the younger players moving up and finding ways that they can contribute to our success on Friday nights. We are graduating some talented seniors but returning some integral playmakers.”

Hudson Wolfe has picked up the playbook and is applying it efficiently in practice. Chandler Chapman and Kyle Stegall will return at running back and Canye Bankston returns at wide receiver. Fulton Ascherl and Jacob Bradford will anchor the offensive line.

According to Encrpera, Hudson Wolfe has shown a very mature football IQ while Chandler Chapman is explosive on both sides of the ball. Canye Bankston has shown that he can play at a high level on the outside. Fulton Ascherl is starting to figure out his body size (6’4”, 270-lbs) while Jacob Bradford has put on quality weight that should be helpful in increasing his fantastic numbers from last year.

On the defensive side of the ball, Spencer Cornell will again line up on the defensive line and is picking up some reps at tight end. Ben Capel was an All-Division performer last year and is expected to pick up where he left off. Chesley Rhodes also returns on the second level. John Scott Stassi has caught the eyes of the staff in the backfield along with returner Heith Shinn.

Evan Noel kicked the state’s longest field last season at 50 yards and he returns to handle the kicking duties.

Encrpera ended, “We will get back to a regimen similar to what it was prior to COVID. We expect to be more involved with 7-on-7 with other schools, hit the weight room hard Meet Gemma.

This adorable girl is bright eyed and bushy tailed, and cute as a bug, with eyes that say it all! When this precious 7 year old, American Staffordshire Terrier mix was brought in by Animal Control, we were hopeful of a reunion, as she was microchipped. Sadly, every attempt to contact her owner was fruitless. She loves treats, and will happily sit for one. She is low key and so super sweet. She walks great on a leash and harness, and loves to romp-n-play with her doggie pals in our exercise yard. Gemma is house trained, and may even be crate trained, and she will be a wonderful, well behaved baby girl and companion for any person, couple or family. If you would like to be Gemma's forever family, please come by during our visiting hours, Mon-Fri 10am-4pm (Tues 12pm-4pm), or call our front desk at 228-466-4516 to schedule an appointment. Please bring your dog(s) and children to ensure compatibility.

the project to move forward, he would need the city’s help.

“The rough idea is to build a living shoreline, some six miles long and up to 20 feet high to protect the city of Waveland and also to subdivide that into aquaculture and recreation areas,” he said.

He said it could become a “major” tourist destination with a “lovely blue water beach behind this shield.”

Tinkler said that the living shoreline would “shield inland development and reduce coastal erosion.”

The proposal includes 1,700 acres of enclosed water, Tinkler said, in Waveland, with six lagoons for aquaculture and recreational use.

“The brown water is a combination of the algae, silt, fluidized sand, and tannins,” Tinkler said. “We have nutrient runoff of the land, goes down the road, all the phosphates, all the nitrogens cause algae blooms, sucks the oxygen out of the water, kills the fish, kills off oyster stocks, looks atrocious. Because we have such a shallow water through here, you always have wave action churning it up. The silt never has a chance to fall out because it’s so shallow.”

Tinkler said some of the wave action would need to be “knocked out” along with some dredging so the silt could get out of the top layer where it’s constantly disturbed and fall to the bottom.

The breakwater of the proposed shoreline would shield everything behind it, Tinkler said, and create a calm estuary in the back for recreation.

Part of the project would involve extending the outfalls all the way out past the living shoreline, he said, creating meanders so that the nitrogen and phosphates which cause the algae blooms and beach closures would fall out.

“We’re using the tides to facilitate moving water from one body to the next, tidal range of roughly two feet,” he said. “So, as the tide comes up, pushes the flak, we have more water coming in at high tide, and can shift water from pond to pond. If you need something additional, we can add in manual pumps in order to push this along. The idea being that all the external water comes into the aquaculture lagoons and goes over the oysters. Now, an adult oyster filters roughly 50 gallons of water a day. In an acre using the string method of aquaculture, you can get about 100,000 oysters in an acre. So we’re putting roughly 80 acres aside in this project in order to do the water filtering. So everything coming in from the Gulf would go over the oysters, get filtered, have all the algae and organics come out, most of everything should settle in the aquaculture ponds and then it can be redirected to the recreational areas.”

The first phase, he said, would be lagoon six, the aquaculture, which would clean the water going into lagoon five for the recreational area. In phase two, there would be a sediment pond, which is lagoon three, and lagoon two for aquaculture. If the first two phases work, Tinkler said, phase three would protect Ansley and Clermont Harbor and form a “major tourist draw to everybody.”

After phase one is done, Tinkler said, it would be studied for about a year to determine any adjustments.

“If the entire project is abandoned there, the failure state is still a protected harbor,” he said. “If everything works, keep moving along. So, hopefully at the end of phase three, we’ll have 1,700 acres of lagoon and we’ll have the entire shoreline from Bienville Drive all the way down to the Silver Slipper protected behind a 20 foot living seawall.”

It would also include walking and bicycling paths and public access to fishing, he said. The protective element of the project would attract developers to the area, and also protect the area from storm surge.

Tinkler said that one of the ways to pay for the maintenance costs would be to lease out the oyster lagoons to private contractors.

“At the end, all the algae has been removed, hopefully we’re down to just the most fine sediments and tannins, Tinkler said.

He added that tannins discolor the water, which he likened to a tea bag.

Tinkler said the probable cost of this project would be between 50 million and 100 million dollars, which he said was an estimate compiled by Henderson in 2019.

“To really cinch this down, we need the help of professionals,” he said. “In order to get quality quick work from professionals, you kind of got to pay them.”

He said that it would cost about two million dollars a year to maintain once it’s built.

Waveland Mayor Mike Smith asked Tinkler what he would like from the board.

“This has gone about as far as I can get it on volunteer labor,” Tinkler said. “In order to get real answers, to be able to tie this down and build a business case, I need funds. People have got economic development funds around, other businesses, but the question is, what’s the city of Waveland think? If you guys hate the idea, I’m done.”

Smith said that one of his fears, also expressed by some residents in attendance, is that the project cost estimate is “too low.”

“Once you get into it, and this has never been done before, I think you’re going to find a lot of unforeseen things that you don’t want to see,” Smith said.

Smith also asked Tinkler if what he wanted was a letter of support from Waveland.

He said “that would go a long way.”

“The rough goal is to raise about 250 grand for the creation of business case/viability study for this,” he said. “To make the economic case one or the other. Is it worth pursuing or no? There are other economic boards, there are companies like Entergy, there are insurance companies, there are folks who have money set aside for economics, these are some of the potential sources of funding for this idea. But they all rely upon the city saying, ‘yeah, we would at least endorse the creation of this business case.’”

“We lease a very small area of our beach from the Secretary of State, Smith said. “But from the start of the Beach Road on out is really out of our control. We police it, but we don’t replenish the sand. It looks like the county would be the bigger partners.”

Ward 1 Alderman Jeremy Burke agreed with Smith and added that the funding, in his opinion, would have to come from a private partnership/venture capitalists.

Smith said that the board has looked at several ways to mitigate some of the damage caused by hurricanes, which includes an offshore break wall and elevating the beach road by five feet.

“We want to do what we can to protect our people, and look, I like this —nothing against anybody here — but I don’t think this is the answer,” he said.

Smith asked the board members how they felt.

Ward 3 Alderman Shane LaFontaine said he was not prepared to support the project at this time.

“You’re going to be working with taxpayer dollars, I just can’t see it,” Ward 4 Aldermen Charlie Piazza said.

Burke reiterated what he said earlier.

The next regular board meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, May 18 at 6:30 p.m.

Popular graduation traditions

Graduation is steeped in tradition. Come the day of graduation, many grads-to-be might be focusing on receiving their diplomas and then celebrating after the ceremony. The hard work students put in affords them every right to celebrate once they're officially anointed as new grads, but before the party begins it can be fun to reflect on the many traditions associated with graduation ceremonies.

Cap and gown

Graduation ceremonies simply wouldn't be the same without caps and gowns. The tradition is anything but new, as Columbia University notes caps and gowns have been linked to academia since the 12th century. Back then, students wore gowns and hoods to emulate the clergy who taught them, but also to stay warm. Many universities dressed their scholars in gowns from the 1700s onward. In 1786, one school, Brown University, even mandated that degree candidates be clad in flowing robes and caps at commencement ceremonies. Though educators and students may no longer wear caps and gowns when attending class or around campus, the tradition of doing so at commencement ceremonies has endured.

Tassel turning

The tradition of turning the tassel does not have the lengthy history of the cap and gown, dating back only decades rather than centuries. Graduates typically turn the tassels after everyone has received their degrees during the ceremony. The turn is symbolic of their transition from student to graduate.

Tassels start on the right for high school students and college undergraduates and are then turned to the left, while recipients of master's degrees and doctorates keep their tassels on the left throughout the commencement ceremonies.

Tossing caps in the air

The tossing of graduation caps in the air is believed to date back more than 100 years. Prior to 1912, graduates of the United States Naval Academy had to serve as midshipmen for two years before they were commissioned as officers. As a result, they still needed their graduation caps. But beginning with the class of 1912, graduates were automatically commissioned

Hancock High School announces 2022 Valedictorian and Salutatorian

Hancock High School is proud to announce that Rachel Rowe was named the Valedictorian, and Lauren LaCroix was named Salutatorian of the graduating Class of 2022. Students who have the highest and second-highest quality point average shall be Valedictorian and Salutatorian, respectively. These students must have followed a college preparatory curriculum and attended Hancock High School for their junior and senior years. Mrs. Tara Ladner, principal of Hancock High, announced this honor on Senior Awards Night on May 16, 2022, and both students had the privilege of speaking at the commencement ceremony on May 20, 2022.

Rachel Rowe is the daughter of Marcus and

Valedictorian
Rachel Rowe

Del Rowe of Diamondhead. “HHS has an encouraging family feeling present throughout the school,” she says. Making the most of her time at HHS, Rachel was a standout leader and member of Student Council, Beta Club, and Mu Alpha Theta. She will attend the University of Mississippi as a biomedical engineering major in the fall. Her

Salutatorian

main goal is to attend the university’s medical school and become an OB-GYN. Lauren LaCroix is the daughter of Kevin and Marie LaCroix of Diamondhead. During her high school career, Lauren was a member of the Cross County team and a participant in Beta Club and Student Council. She plans to use her education to continue to a more sustainable future to work on protecting the planet. Lauren will attend Mississippi State University and major in chemical engineering. “This recognition is not just an accomplishment given the incredibly competitive class. These two young ladies exemplify what it means to be a Hawk. Their leadership, academic success, and school involvement are top-notch. Each one is distinct in her own passions and pursuits. I cannot be more excited to name Rachel and Lauren as Valedictorian and Salutatorian,” said Principal Tara Ladner. Hancock High congratulates Rachel and Lauren and the entire Class of 2022 for their many accomplishments.

Gift ideas for soon-to-be graduates

It would be an understatement to say that it has been an interesting few years for the Class of 2022. Due to the pandemic, many soon-to-be grads spent a significant portion of their school years adapting to a changing landscape, both at school and at home. While it is an accomplishment to reach graduation in a “normal” situation, students who have succeeded and thrived in the face of pandemic-related adversity are worthy of extra celebration. Graduation gifts are a great way to show grads how proud you are that they stayed the course in the face of significant challenges. Here are seven gift ideas for graduates.

1. Journal: Graduates are about to start new chapters in their lives. Either a blank journal or one with writing prompts can help grads get their thoughts on paper to document both the many moments that will shape the next few years.
2. Mascot- or school-

- themed offerings: If a high school graduate will be going on to higher education, then visit the college or university’s spirit shop to purchase anything from sweatshirts to blankets to coffee mugs featuring a school logo or mascot. On the first day of classes, the new student will already feel part of the team.
3. New wardrobe: Graduating means forging new paths, whether in a career or through additional schooling. Grads can look the part with several items from a favorite retailer. Those who are unsure of the graduate’s style can purchase a gift card and let the grad go on a spending spree.
 4. Framed school photo or map: A piece of artwork can evoke strong emotions of time spent on campus. Frame a black-and-white or sepia-tone print of the aerial view of campus, or opt for an official school tour map, which indicates buildings and other points of interest. This

- could become a cherished keepsake.
5. Bedside organizational pouch: Dorm life requires maximizing a small amount of space. An organizational pouch or pocket can keep essentials such as a tablet, book, reading glasses, and remote control close by and organized without taking up a lot of room. Some are designed to rest over a couch cushion or slide between a mattress and bed frame.
 6. Automotive essentials: Graduates will be facing all sorts of new expenses, so easing any sort of financial burden can help them in a big way. Vehicles tend to be major financial drains for teens and young adults. Prepaid cash cards, gas station gift cards, vouchers for car washes, and even gift cards to an automotive supply store can help graduates direct their funds elsewhere.
 7. Personal coffee-maker: Many people feel coffee is essential to make it through the day. Graduates who will soon be studying for college exams or those waking up early for their first forays into the workforce may appreciate an on-demand pick-me-up. Coffeemakers are much more streamlined these days, and there are pots designed to use loose grounds or special pods to produce cups quickly. Shoppers can explore many interesting options to commemorate the accomplishments of the class of 2022.

• TRADITIONS

as officers, so they no longer needed their hats. That led the graduates to throw them in the air, thus beginning one of the more fun and photo-worthy graduation traditions. “Pomp and Circumstance” This tradition marked by the playing of “Pomp and Circumstance” is rooted in the work of William Shakespeare, which makes it seem like a perfect fit for graduation ceremonies. Sir Edward Elgar composed “Pomp and Circumstance” in 1901 and the title for the song was inspired by a line in the bard’s “Othello.” Elgar received an honorary degree from Yale University in 1905, and during that ceremony “Pomp and Circumstance” was played. The song apparently made a strong impression, as it soon began to be played at various commencement ceremonies, a tradition that continues today.
